Abstract

1   A multilevel cache system comprises a first data array, a second data array coupled to the 2   first data array, and a merged tag array coupled to the second data array.